Senior Centers Provide Great Options for Health Living

The local Area Agency on Aging Senior Center is important in Earl’s life. Back in 2010 Earl suffered a heart attack and was laid up for two months. Since that time, he retired, slowly regained his independence, and started visiting his local Senior Center.

Senior Centers are a God send for many seniors throughout Missouri. For Earl personally, at age 87, it has given him a place to volunteer, experience happiness among peers, exercise regularly, and receive a hot, nutritious meal.

“Maintaining my mental and physical health is now a priority for me. Three times a week I go to an Easy Chair Exercise class and enjoy a variety of educational and recreational activities. Without the services of our Senior Centers, a lot of seniors would have to go to nursing homes prematurely,” Earl said.
